A benefit baseball game for Leo Normandin, popular member of the American Thruway company baseball team and Emerald basketball team, his being ranked by the management of both these sporting organizations. The Emeralds had planned to hold a benefit basketball contest in this city but the season had passed and a baseball game was agreed upon. The Emeralds at one time were noted for their fast baseball playing and the Thruway makers are assured a hot contest. Fans of the city are anxiously waiting for the game. The game will be the first opportunity to see them really out to win.

Normandin suffered an injury to his back while playing for the Emeralds against the Milford team, quintette. At that time he led his team mates in field baskets. Since his injury he has been more or less incapacitated. Ident, J. B. Fullerton, presided and Secretary M. E. Sullivan read the report of the previous meeting. W. C. Norris reported that the four-leaf pamphlet was ready for printing and the directors were given an opportunity to look at the book. On the first page was a front view of the Willimantic chamber of commerce building, the second and third pages were devoted to facts about industries of the city, schools, business houses and other data of interest to the main intending to make his home or place of business in Willimantic. On the back cover is a railroad map of Connecticut and parts of Rhode Island and Massachusetts. On this map the fact has been clearly demonstrated that Willimantic is the center of railroad transportation in the state. This booklet is to be mailed out of town concerns by the local chamber of commerce and business men have been asked to adopt the use of the railroad map on the backs of business envelopes.

The subject of removal of trains by the New Haven railroad was brought up for discussion. Mr. Norris as corresponding secretary for the Willimantic chamber of commerce, has received a communication from the federal highway council of Washington, D. C. asking for the opinion of the work of the council by the Willimantic chamber. The following letter has been dispatched by the local chamber: Federal Highway Council, Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir: Replying to your general inquiry of April 19th would say that the work of the council in securing and disseminating facts and information is to be commended. Knowledge systematized and utilized is always beneficial. At this time, however, we should be careful not to create a false impression. Proper expansion means progress. Improper expansion means financial ruin. There are times when practical, not higgledy economy should be practiced. Transportation is one of the greatest questions now to be solved. The building of highways with state and federal money to expedite transportation by motor power at the expense of our rail transportation and in active competition with it, needs careful attention. The building of federal and state highways is subsidizing of motor transportation at the expense of our railroads. If there is a way to put on flesh and not break our back home, we favor it, but let us study transportation as a whole.

Very truly yours, W. C. NORRIS, Willimantic Chamber of Commerce, Corresponding Secretary
